

Analysis of Long-Period Cometary Orbits

*Ja-Yong Koo*¹

Abstract:

The data on long-period comets in the catalogue of Marsden and Williams (1993) are analysed using a one-parameter family.

A non-zero selection effect is detected and its size is estimated.

Subject to this selection effect, uniformity of the directed normals can no longer be ruled out.

¹Department of Statistics, Inha University, jykoo@stat.inha.ac.kr