

Progress and Development of Biopesticide in China

Li Jianhong

Department of Plant Protection, College of Plant Science and Technology, Huazhong Agricultural University, Wuhan, 430070, P. R.. China

Massive application of pesticide in the traditional plant protection has affected the biological environment, human life and sustainable agricultural development. Biological control characterized by safety, economy and non-pollution, provides sustainable agriculture with new opportunity and technological bases and solves many problems in the implementation of sustainable agriculture. This paper reviewed the application of biological control in sustainable agricultural development, the current situation and development of biopesticide in China.