1. Introduction

Audience demographics play a large role in movie production and marketing. How audiences perceive a film according to genre is clearly one of the most attractive research topics in the area of film marketing. The findings of such research are essential for both academia and the industry in order to better understand the impact of audience demographics on a film's performance. The proposed research focuses on finding the relationship between audience demographics and movie performance. More specifically, it aims to find the relationship between variables that reflect audience demographics and audience evaluations using Big Data.

2. Data

The primary data for this study were obtained from a public data website (MovieLens). A total of one million data points were downloaded in the initial stage. The data set mainly consists of four parts: Movie ID, Audience Rating, Audience Profile, and Movie Genre. In Movie ID, a total 3,882 movies were reviewed. Audience Rating is on a 1 to 5 scale ( 1 is poor, 5 is excellent). Audience Profile contains the reviewers' age and occupation in categorical format. Age is classified into seven categories (Under 18, 18-24, 25-34, 35-44, 45-49, 50-55, and Over 55). Occupation is classified into 21 categories (Academic/Educator, Artist, Clerical/Admin, College/Graduate Student, Customer Service, Doctor/Health Care, Executive/ Managerial, Farmer, Homemaker, K-12 Student, Lawyer, Programmer, Retired, Sales/Marketing, Scientist, Self-employed, Technician/Engineer, Tradesman/Craftsman, Unemployed, Writer, and Other or Not Specified). Movie Genre is classified into 18 different types (Action, Adventure, Animation, Children, Comedy, Crime, Documentary, Drama, Fantasy, FilmNoir, Horror, Musical, Mystery, Romance, SciFi, Thriller, War, and Western).

3. Analysis

$78 \%$ of the audience members are between the ages of 18 and $44,75 \%$ of the audience is male, and $13 \%$ of the audience members are college or graduate students. The audience ratings range from 1 to 5 , but this variable is highly skewed due to higher values. A total of 226,309 cases are given a rating of 5 by audience members, resulting in $23 \%$ of total cases. Among the members to give the highest ratings, females were slightly more prone to giving higher ratings than males (female: $24 \%$, male: $22 \%$ ).

In terms of total count, Comedy and Drama genres ranked first in highest audience ratings (354,788 and 351,793 each). However, in terms of the ratio of total movies in a genre and highest audience ratings, Film-Noir genre ranks first (39\%). Although Critic's Rating and Audience Ratings are significantly correlated, Critic's Rating possesses a stronger correlation coefficient ( 0.114 ) than Audience Rating ( 0.018 ) in predicting movie revenue (all correlations are significant at the 0.01 level). It is obvious that Critic's Rating and Audience Ratings are not symmetric. Among the cases which received the highest score in Audience Rating, only about $40 \%$ of cases received such a score from critics. But of the cases which received a higher rating by critics, more than $80 \%$ of cases received a high audience score.
